

Curtis's Song

To: Curtis

From: Naegypt

Curtis, I still remember the first time I saw you. Boots on the floor, fresh cuts, no sleep, still you stayed cool. Basic training, all that pressure, all those heavy days. Funny how God was already writing it that way. Then AIT in 2022, we really started talking. Late-night calls, early mornings, both our hearts unlocked and walking. Through every heartbreak, every trial, somehow we found our way back. Now it's "us" in every sentence, and I'm never looking back. 'Cause you don't just love me—boy, you lead me. Hands steady, heart ready, faith deep. And I don't say it lightly, I mean it. I thank God every day that He gave me you. Curtis, I'll always choose you, in every season, every truth. Love you more each day, the way you carry us, the way you come through. You provide, you protect, and you honor what we promised under God. Amazing husband, incredible man, wonderful soldier—yeah, you are. And I'm right here, I'm right here, I'll never move. Curtis, I'll always choose you. December 9th, 2025, you asked and my whole world changed. Felt like heaven hit the ground when you said my name. January 5th, 2026, I stepped into forever with you. Hands held tight, new life—boy, I knew what God would do. Now Colorado nights, new air, new dreams, new plans. And I'm grateful it's you leading, with that strength in your hands. I see your courage every day, even when you don't say a word. You're the kind of man your vows describe, and you live what you've heard. You don't just speak it—no, you show it. In the way you pray, in the way you hold it down. And when life gets loud, you keep me grounded. That's why I'll love you out loud. Curtis, I'll always choose you, in every season, every truth. Love you more each day, the way you carry us, the way you come through. You provide, you protect, and you honor what we promised under God. Amazing husband, incredible man, wonderful soldier—yeah, you are. And I'm right here, I'm right here, I'll never move. Curtis, I'll always choose you. I love you like Luffy loves meat, no hesitation, no shame. Like Sanji loves cooking—put your heart in it every day. Like Nami loves treasure, yeah, you're worth more than gold to me. And even if I'm a weekend warrior, listen close, baby—believe. I'll still fight by your side, lace my boots, take your hand. When the road gets steep, I'm your peace, I'm your stand. 'Cause this covenant is holy, and I'm grateful that it's ours. So if the world tries to shake us, we'll hold tight and won't bow. Curtis, I'll always choose you, in every season, every truth. Love you more each day, the way you carry us, the way you come through. You provide, you protect, and you honor what we promised under God. Amazing husband, incredible man, wonderful soldier—yeah, you are. And I'm right here, I'm right here, I'll never move. Curtis, I'll always choose you. More each day... more each day... Curtis, I'll always choose you. Yeah, I'll always love you—always.
