My King ! My World! And Confidant!! George Binda♥♥

Fourteen years ago, I still remember the air, Quick little moments, like a song that wasn't there. We were just passing through, two hearts in different scenes, But something in your eyes stayed running through my dreams. Then time did what it does, took us far and wide, Yet your name kept showing up in the quiet of my mind. And when the world came back around, you were standing so sure, Like "baby, I'm still here"—steady, safe, and pure. Twelve years went by, but it never went away, Like a beat in my chest that refuses to change. Now you're closer than a wish, closer than my skin, And I don't wanna fight it… I wanna fall in. King George Binda, I'm into you— In that real way, in that "I see you" truth. This Valentine's Day, I'm saying it clear, I want your love on me, year after year. 'Cause you're loving and caring, you're honest too, My safe place, my always—yeah, I'm into you. King George Binda, don't let go, We waited too long just to take it slow. You're the kind of man that shows up, no excuses, Resourceful with your hands, with your heart—you do this. Reliable in the chaos, calm when life gets loud, You don't just talk about love, you make it real right now. Amazing father—how you lead with that grace, And a loving son, still honoring your parents' name. It's the way you're respectful, how you keep it sincere, Fun-loving and authentic—baby, you feel like home here. And I've had enough of almost, enough of "someday,". Now I want the kind of love that stays. So come a little closer, let me say it again, I'm not scared of forever… if forever is him. King George Binda, I'm into you— In that real way, in that "I see you" truth. This Valentine's Day, I'm saying it clear, I want your love on me, year after year. 'Cause you're loving and caring, you're honest too, My safe place, my always—yeah, I'm into you. King George Binda, don't let go, We waited too long just to take it slow. We were sparks in the distance, then the timing got right, Now it's you in my morning and you in my night. Let the past be the reason we hold on tight, 'Cause what we found again feels like a second life. So if you ever wonder, baby, where I stand— I'm right here, choosing you, reaching for your hand. King George Binda, I'm into you— In that real way, in that "I see you" truth. This Valentine's Day, I'm saying it clear, I want your love on me, year after year. 'Cause you're loving and caring, you're honest too, My safe place, my always—yeah, I'm into you. King George Binda, don't let go, We waited too long… and now we both know.
