

Cassidy's Song

To: Cassidy

From: Mel

Know we will always love you.....
Mom

Cassidy, I see you standing strong. And sometimes I wonder, was I gone too long? If I could, I'd wind back all those miles. Trade every sorry for another smile. There were days I missed, and nights I regret. More than I can say, I'm not done feeling yet. But none of my missteps change the truth I hold— You're the best part of me I've ever known. If you ever wondered if you matter to me. Just look in my eyes, it's all you'll ever see. Every sunrise, every battle we get through. It's you, Cassidy, it's always been you. For all the ways we fumbled, all the ways we tried. We'd do it all again, you're the reason why. Everything we are, everything we'll be. It's all for you, Cassidy. Cassidy, you saw me holding on. Carrying the weight when the nights were long. I know I lost my patience, wasn't always kind. But loving you still saved me, every single time. I did what I could, sometimes on my own. Still, raising you is the greatest thing I've known. No I wouldn't change a moment, not for anything. Watching you become yourself, that's everything. You're the pride in my laughter, the strength in my tears. You're the heart of my days, the sum of my years. Every sunrise, every battle we get through. It's you, Cassidy, it's always been you. For all the ways we fumbled, all the ways we tried. We'd do it all again, you're the reason why. Everything we are, everything we'll be. It's all for you, Cassidy. We made you together with hope in our hands. And we'd choose you our beautiful girl again and again. You're the meaning in our morning, the peace in our night. The light we keep following, the reason we fight. Every sunrise, every battle we get through. It's you, Cassidy, it's always been you. For all the ways we fumbled, all the ways we tried. We'd do it all again, you're the reason why. Everything we are, everything we'll be. It's all for you, Cassidy. Yeah, it's all for you, Cassidy.
